
Congratulations on completing the traceability chooser, there are Your results
many business benefits to implementing traceability in your your business. Based on the answers you provided to us, the below provides information about your business needs and selecting the best where to start, based on where you are now traceability system

Understand your needs
Find and evaluate systems

Select the best system

your business

You have indicated that your business is best described as [answer]. You may have had a little difficulty deciding which statement suits and may have thought that you fit across two or more categories. Don't be too concerned because we use your answer to this question to help us determine where you should probably start in assessing your own readiness and need for different kinds of traceability systems and technologies. You will be able to access all the information and advice available in our resources library so you can add to the list yourself..

Congratulations you have the basic building block for traceability in place. The product identifier system you use will be important information to discuss with any technology supplier.

Motivations & expectations

Congratulations you have the basic building block for traceability in place. The product identifier system you use will be important information to discuss with any technology supplier.

The basic building block for a traceability system is to have a unique product identification system. The good news is that how you do this is completely your choice. We suggest that you go to our resources page [\[insert link\]](#) and have a look at how to set up a product identifier system that suits your needs.

Congratulations you have the basic building block for traceability in place. The product identifier system you use will be important information to discuss with any technology supplier.

your markets

The basic building block for a traceability system is to have a unique product identification system. The good news is that how you do this is completely your choice. We suggest that you go to our resources page [\[insert link\]](#) and have a look at how to set up a product identifier system that suits your needs.

Digital Capabilities

Congratulations you have the basic building block for traceability in place. The product identifier system you use will be important information to discuss with any technology supplier.

The basic building block for a traceability system is to have a unique product identification system. The good news is that how you do this is completely your choice. We suggest that you go to our resources page [insert link] and have a look at how to set up a product identifier system that suits your needs.

Time & resources

You have indicated that your business is best described as [answer]. You may have had a little difficulty deciding which statement suits and may have thought that you fit across two or more categories. Don't be too concerned because we use your answer to this question to help us determine where you should probably start in assessing your own readiness and need for different kinds of traceability systems and technologies. You will be able to access all the information and advice available in our resources library so you can add to the list yourself.. Now you can assess the available technology and we have provided a selection of questions to ask a tech provider to make the right decision. Congratulations you have the basic building block for traceability in place. The product identifier system you use will be important information to discuss with any technology supplier.

Orange_list

Technology list download

Questions to ask a tech provider

Other useful information

Based on the answers you provided to us, the below provides information about your business needs and

Tell your Provenance story
Download guidebook

Traceability Chooser is funded by the Australian Government, Department of Agriculture Water and the Environment and developed by Honey and Fox Pty Ltd